THE LAWYERS AND THE STATE

Seven hundred lawyers of Canada in attendance at the Canadian Bar Association in Toronto, last week, discussed the question, "Are Governments too High Handed?" The lawyers believed that there is a tendency for governments of late to "come forward as something above the law."

"The real trouble lies right at the door of the lawyers themselves. We have had altogether too many lawyers in our legislature and the federal government. They have taken care of themselves so well that popular indignation has forced governments to take certain protective steps on behalf of the people."

"The very conservatism of lawyers and their adherence to tradition and timidity of recognizing need for change has driven the people of our western land, in particular, to a degree of desperation."

"The law is not so sacrosanct a thing that it should not be changed as people are needed. And certainly the experience the great mass of people have had with lawyers suggest that they are not the proper people to bring about the needed changes. The more lawyers kept out of our ruling bodies, the better for the bulk of the people."

The above is taken from the editorial columns of the Brooks Bulletin, and speaks for itself. Like the writer there are probably many unthinking persons who might for want of anything better to say, give voice to such sentiments. But are they justified?

Is it not true that of late Governments have a tendency to "Come forward as something above the law?" Is it true that we have recently witnessed almost open defiance of the law and the constitution by Government? The writer of the article himself knows that in the good old U.F.A. Days Government sought and obtained the assistance of lawyers to deny to citizens the right to collect from Government that which the Government had unlawfully taken away. But enough of that.

Too many lawyers in our legislatures and the Federal Government! Perhaps, but why? Simply because amongst all our different classes of citizens by occupation, the lawyer is the person best suited by training and instinct to deal with problems affecting the laws of the land. If this is not true why was it found necessary to draft John E. Brownlee, K.C., in 1921 into the ranks of the U.F.A. Government? And by the way, how many lawyers were there in the U.F.A. Government from 1921 to 1935? Was it not a total of two? And just how many of the present Social Credit group, or in the legislature for that matter, are lawyers? It surely is not so alarming.

And how well have "they taken care of themselves" and what are these "protective steps" the writer speaks about. Only a doctor may practice medicine, only a dentist may pull teeth, only an engineer may do engineering work, only a veterinarian may attend a sick horse, but a newspaper man (if he is fool enough) may do any kind of work, any fly-by-night confidence man may start a collection agency, any Trust Company may draw your will and advise you about your estate, the Government will administer your estate, advise you if you are a school district, a town or a municipality on a free gratis basis, while all that the lawyer might rightfully claim to be his sole prerogative is the doubtful privilege of appearing (quite infrequently of recent years) in court in a gown, for which he might or might not get paid.

The penultimate paragraph of the article sounds fine and means nothing. It reminds me of the mouthings which come over the air on occasions, particularly on Sundays from approximately three to five p.m.

The last sentence is really a gem. The logical conclusion is that all lawyers should be barred from sitting in our deliberative assemblies, for according to the writer's twisted reasoning, "The more lawyers kept out of our ruling bodies, the better for the bulk of the people. But the lawyers and all will be well in the land. We are sure the Province of North has not thought of that one yet. Failing the banks, it will provide another good reason why the $25.00 note is not as yet been paid."

And after all that has been written, we must confess that the majority of our readers will probably agree with the Bulletin for the lawyers certainly are a sort of helpless crew, and sadly in need of some one to show them how "to take care of themselves."

SCHOOL DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN

The long vacation for the school children is over. Already seats have been assigned, and preliminary arrangements made for the work to be covered in the next ten months. Camping, trips and the like will gradually recede into the dim past while the mind struggles with the problems of arithmetic, etc.

The "new teacher" will be forthwith sounded out—quietly but unobtrusively—and in a rather remarkably short space of time, each "student" will know just how much the school man can stand.

In the primary room there will be a lot of new-comers, and each of them will be suffering agonies at the thought of school and all that it implies to the child mind. In the other grades, most of the pupils will have moved a step higher, finding the work as they go on, just so much harder to assimilate, until in the higher grades there are those who can prophesy with truth that they may find it difficult to progress. They may have reached their level. Progress will hereafter be difficult for them.

The new course of studies thrust upon the teachers is getting into swing. Teachers have been forced to attend summer-school (at their own expense) to equip themselves to teach the new course. School Boards will require purchase of reference books and equipment—to take a journey to Japan.

While on the subject of school and text books, we hear a lot on all sides, mostly from teachers but I said, concerning an alleged racket in text books. It seems that most of the text books now in use in Alberta Schools are those prepared by self-styled educators, resident of Alberta, replacing text books covering the same subject of long standing and recognized worth. And the cost keeps going up and up. One of these days some bright mind will suggest another commission to go into this particular racket with which the present Ministry of Education must have some knowledge.

Locally there will be three new members on the staff. Each of them will have a difficult task to perform. It is not an easy thing to succeed teachers of recognized ability such as we have had on the local staff for some years. The teachers, however, come highly recommended, and will, with the co-operation of School Board, pupils, and parents, undoubtedly succeed.

DISALLOWANCE

When the Social Credit Government, in defiance of the opinion handed down to it by its own Attorney General, acting on the advice of the Law Officers of the Crown, passed the legislation recently disallowed by the Federal Government, the leaders of the Provincial Government must have had in mind several of certain alternatives with which they must have known they would be faced sooner or later—

1. Refusal to sign by the Lieutenant Governor
2. Disallowance by the Federal Government
3. A reference to the Supreme Court on a voluntary basis as suggested by the Prime Minister.
4. A test in a real case through the courts in the regular way.

5. Withdrawal of the Banks from the Province.
The first was from the beginning totally unlikely, and frankly we are rather surprised at Mr. King being drawn into a game of "Heads, I Win, Tails, You Lose." Nothing better could have happened to suit the hand the Aberhart Government was drawing to. The action of disallowing the legislation, in itself justifiable and proper, is the card that the Provincial Government wanted played. It is not the Liberal party that is up in a horrible alliance with the money barons, the fifty Big Shots, and all that kind of cloddishness. It will give Mr. Aberhart something to talk about. And how that man can talk—even if some of us at times cannot understand him.

Canada Year Book Published At Ottawa

The publication of the 1937 edition of the Canada Year Book, published by authorization of Hon. W. D. Barr, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The Canada Year Book is an official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc., in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic conditions of the Dominion. This new edition has been thoroughly revised throughout and includes in all its chapters the latest available information up to the date of going to press.

The 1937 Canada Year Book extends to over 1,100 pages, dealing with all phases of the national life and is especially with those susceptible of statistical measurement. A statistical summary of the progress of Canada is included in the introductory matter. This gives a picture in figures of the remarkable progress which the country has made since the first census of the Dominion was taken in 1871, sixty-six years ago.

Re-organization of the work of several departments of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in 1936, under the new Department of Transport and of Mines and Resources, has provided an opportunity to revise and recast the material concerned with these phases of administration. The necessity for substantiating statistical continuity with the past makes difficult such wholesale re-casting. In the present tentative statistical series have, in certain cases, been definitely broken and a new departure was unavoidable, but in as far as possible, continuity has been maintained in the changes that have been made.

In the Public Finance Chapter, an attempt has been made to give, in condensed tabular form, a summary of the Dominion Government Tax System as of July 1936. The important section on Subsidies and Loans to the Provinces, has also been expanded. The operations of the Bank of Canada are now established in the financial system of the country and it has therefore been considered advisable this year to recast the chapter on "Currency and Banking." Adjustments will, no doubt be necessary from time to time but it is felt that the main features of the new outline will serve for some time to come.

The accession of King George VI to the Throne and the Coronation of the new King on May 12 are marked by the reproduction in frontispiece an official photograph of the ceremony in Westminster Abbey, by official portraits of the King and Queen, and an extract from His Majesty's address to his people, delivered after the Coronation on May 12th, 1937.

Persons requiring the Year Book may obtain it from the King's Printer, Ottawa, as long as the supply lasts, at the price of $1.50, which covers merely the cost of paper, printing and binding; by a special concession, a limited number of paper-bound copies have been set aside for ministers of religion, bona-fide students and school teachers, who may obtain copies at the nominal price of 50 cents each.

THE POPPIES

(Composed by Miss Joan Campbell, Hussar, Alta.)

Out in the garden,

They dance in the breeze,
The bright orange poppies,
With green fern-like leaves.

So still in the night-time,

The bright moon in shining,

She shares with the poppies—
Soothing their pining.

Morning finds poppies so eager to see,

The daily round of the busy day.

Hush, he approacheth, as proud as he may,

And gay are the poppies—
"Till end of the day."

This column was started for the interest and amusement of the parents and pupils of the Bassano High School. The events will be run as a "Weekly" feature of this paper. As the editors wish to remain anonymous, suggestions will be welcomed, and may be handed in to the Recorder's Office.

Editorial

Once again the summer-silenced building red (or maybe drab) echoes with groans, and in odd corners laughter. The half forced discipline of a new start, combined with the expectations concerning the new curriculum, seem to mark distinctly the re-opening of school.

Testimonials already received have been entirely in favor of the new term with a series of opening days as the clatter and clamour seems to appeal greatly to the students, rather than the daily routine of "reads" and "rits" and "rhythmic."

Also we have heard many a silent prayer has been issued as to the probable outcome of the time-extended problem, homework. Resolutions of the abolishment of homework are as numerous today as yesterday, but still we believe that old pile of books will continue to travel to and fro with those model students. Constant work by pupils would necessarily abolish these same home exercises, (we hope) but... note slinging, tongue wagging, giggling, and many foolish work, rather than transport his or her plus pounds over certain mountains. (What about the Barrier, Per?)

However, the student body will be slightly smaller and much quieter since the departure of the would-be bank manager, Mr. Charles S. Honey. We sincerely trust losing such studious scholars as was found in the intelligence of Chas. (if and when he worked). We wish you the best of luck to your enterprise, Mr. Honey. As in former years the grasping communication of the students conversation leads one to believe that the Literary Society, so forgotten last year, should be revived to further the aims of the students and dramatists as can be found in the B.H.S. The new course of social studies seems to indicate drama and music very essential to the life of modern youth. We can see no other course more suitable to the developments of these subjects than the display and music of these arts as found in a well conducted meeting of such nature. This is only a suggestion, but for the good of the B.H.S., the biggest success in its history.

The pre-season topic throws a decisive light on athletics. After a successful term last year, the athletes of Bassano School seem determined to press onward during the forthcoming year. The splendid performance at the Spring Track Meet and the achievements at the Provincial Meet by locals, promises a year of increased effort on the part of those concerned.

With all minds intent upon hard work both in school and on the athletic field; this younger generation of collegians looks forward to making B.H.S., the biggest success in its history.

HEALTH

It is often difficult to give a meaning to words which we use every day. One of these words is "Health." We say that we are healthy and yet, when asked to explain what we mean we usually find it almost impossible to put our meaning into words.

In the first place, when we are healthy we are free from any obvious disease. That perhaps is the commonest idea of health. As long as an individual goes about his work and does not complain, he is thought of as healthy.

As a matter of fact, such people are not necessarily healthy in any sense as the full meaning of the word. Freedom from actual disease is desirable, but health is far more than that. Health is something positive, something that brings happiness to us. The person with health faces the day's work with confidence, finds pleasure in his occupation, is able to do better work, and can fully enjoy the hours of relaxation.

It is surprising the number of people who spend a more or less miserable life, unable to accomplish the things which they are capable, because they are not healthy. These same people are surprised when, on a medical examination, they learn that there is something wrong with their bodies, something not perhaps serious enough to cause death, but sufficient to handicap them in their daily life, and, perhaps, to make them grow prematurely old.

Again, there are those who miss the happiness that comes with health and yet are free from physical ailments. These are the people who are not following the simple rules of hygienic living. We cannot rob our bodies of rest, fresh air or proper food and continue to have health.

Health is a condition of physical well-being that comes to those who are free from physical defects and who follow the simple rules of hygienic living.

ALBERTA PROVINCIAL COMMAND

Queens Hotel
Edmonton, Alta.
To All Imperial Ex-Servicemen:
After nineteen years I have been found necessary to once again organize the Imperial War Veterans or any soldier who served in the Imperial Army if he ever expects to get the recognition he justly deserves.

Let us at this time thank the Canadian Legion for their efforts on our behalf, and seeing that they now claim that they cannot do anything for us, we are going to try ourselves, as it is only reasonable to assume that we cannot let this very important matter drop.

Importants realize that conditions are generally getting worse. Our organization is solely composed of Imperial Ex-Servicemen, and there is no argument against the fact that, if we are going to require the ability of men who have suffered under the Imperial Pension Roll Warrants. Anyone who has been subjected to the Imperial Warrants understands that this is not a task for the individual but that only through the solidarity of the Imperial Ex-Servicemen can any progress be attained. The Service was with and for the Empire in which you are still living, and we are going to the fact that you have removed from the part of the Empire to which you enlisted you are unjustly ostracized.

The forming of the Imperial Veterans organization took place after a very careful consideration, and I am pleased to relate the need for such has been proven by the fact that to day we have branches established in every Province in the Dominion.

Our aims and objects are Pensioners Hospitalization, and Social Services for the Imperial on the same basis as the Canadian receives, and we further stress the fact that the Imperial Government should be requested to bear their share of the cost.

I may further state that we have no affiliations with other ex-servicemen, co-operation is always extended.

Anyone desirous of any information on this, is advised to communicate with the undersigned at the above address.

I am your, Sir
W. Hinchalwood, Secy., Treas.

The Queenstown-Arrowwood Juniors captured the first round of the Provincial Baseball Play-offs by defeating the Patricia Pats both games of a double-header on Sunday last.

Superb fielding behind the steady pitching of Irwin was the feature of the first game. The locals were successful in pushing 4 runs across the plate while the Pats could only force across three.

In the second fixture the local boys again showed their fielding ability. This, coupled with superb pitching by Lester, enabled the boys to clinch the first round with a score of 5-1.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

IT'S UP TO YOU

It's the man behind the camera that counts. This picture, for example, was snapped with an inexpensive and simple operated camera.

It's a joy to own a fine precision camera with a fast lens and shutter. No one will deny that, such cameras are versatile and open the way for picture taking under many conditions. Extremely fast action holds no terror for them. They laugh at poor light. If you want to specialize on speed photography or indoor shots without special illumination, or about under adverse conditions in general, a precision-built, ultra fast camera is the thing to own.

If, however, you want a camera to snap pictures under ordinary conditions, a simple, inexpensive one will serve admirably, afford a lot of pleasure and, as far as recording the subject is concerned, will make average snapshots just as well as the more elaborate type. Remember, I am referring to snapshotting under ordinary conditions.

Artistic composition, shooting to capture fascinating and artistic shadows—these things add so much to a picture, interest appeal and lighting are strictly up to you. There isn't a camera made at any price that can tell you how, when or where to make a picture of rare quality and appeal, but experience will teach much.

The fact that an unusual, interesting snapshot was taken with a "cheap" camera does not signify that the same picture could not have been snapped equally as well with a simple camera by the same person. If a certain picture is to be taken, it should be snapped at 1/11 with a shutter speed of 1/12 of a second, it might take an expert to determine which of two prints of this subject was taken with a beginner's type of camera and which with one of the type used by the experts.

So much depends on the person behind the camera. If you will make a study of pictures appearing in magazines, newspapers and pictorial books you will learn much about the fundamentals of good picture-making. You will find pictures of gardens, buildings, homes, people, animals and pets, clove-ups and, in fact, just about every type of picture you will ever want to make. Study these pictures and note carefully the different angles from which some of them are taken. Study the lighting, the shadows and the very natural appearance of people in many of the pictures. You will soon develop an "eye for pictures" and when you do you will find that even your inexpensive camera will produce the kind of pictures you thought were possible only with an expensive camera.

So you see, much depends on the man or woman behind the camera.
